

Certainly, your striving is diverse

As for the one who gives in charity, fears God, and believes in the ultimate reward, We shall facilitate for him the path of goodness and easy end.

But as for the miserly one who withholds charity, considers oneself free of need and denies faith in God and His ultimate reward, We will facilitate for him the path of badness and difficult end.

What will his wealth benefit him when he perishes?

Meaning is derived from the Glorious Quran, 92:4-11

